

NEWSLETTER No. 2

Welcome to the second newsletter!

Contents:

- Further sessions and workshops
- Seminar for Young Scholars
- Preannouncement

Picture Credits: Copyright GrazTourismus, city park (Grazer Stadtpark)

The following sessions and workshops have been registered since the publication of Newsletter No. 1:

- Count Razumovsky's Botanical Garden in the vicinity of Moscow, Gorenky, Russia
- Ancient Life or Modern Life: Time and the acceleration of the rhythm of life during the second half of the XVIIIth century
- Past, Present and Future in the Thought of David Hume (1711-1776)
- Time and Identity in Eighteenth Century Thought
- Concepts of Change
- Turning towards the Future. New Visions of Time and History in the Ibero-Atlantic Enlightenment
- Kants philosophischer Entwurf zum ewigen Frieden – ein erfolgreiches Konzept?
- Chances et barrières des lumières en Europe orthodoxe
- La correspondance de Bernardin de Saint-Pierre: Images d'une époque
- Scepticisme et anti-scepticisme au siècle des Lumières (session I)
- Scepticisme et anti-scepticisme au siècle des Lumières (session II)
- Collecting Art and Visual Culture in Latin America
- Financial Crises Then and Now
- Erasmus Darwin Foreshadows Modern Thought
- Indolence – Musse – oisiveté: The Creative Use of Time
- Breaking from the Past, Envisioning the Future: The Discourse of Decline and the Socio-Economic Reforms in the Spanish Enlightenment

We emphasize that program suggestions need not concern only the two main topics but, rather, any subject of 18th century research.

The deadline for session and workshop proposals is July 31, 2010 – e-mail: 18thcc.office@uni-graz.at. All proposals must be submitted via the form provided on the website (see Congress Programme). The Congress Committee will use these proposals to structure the contents of the congress programme.

The list of congress topics will be posted on the website in September 2010. After this date, you have the opportunity to register an individual paper within the framework of the listed sessions or workshops until January 31, 2011. (Further details will be available on the congress website under the headings "Programme" and „Registration“).

Seminar for Young Scholars 2011

A Seminar for Young Scholars 2011 of the International Society for Eighteenth Century Studies will be organized within the framework of the 13th International Congress for 18th Century Studies in Graz. The theme is Providing for the Future: Theory and Practice in the Eighteenth Century.

You can find further information on the congress website (www.18thcenturycongress-graz2011.at) and also on the website of the International Society (www.isecs.org) from the 15th of May.

Preannouncement

The next newsletter will be published at the beginning of August 2010 and will contain the following information:

- Additional business